Process Settings dialog box

After you give a new hot folder a name and define its basic processor preset information, you configure its detailed processing instructions.

Use the applicable tabs of this dialog box to configure such aspects as the type and handling of input files, spot colors, screening, and ICC profiles.

Note: Although most preset information cannot be edited, you can modify the process settings as needed.

Parent topic: Initial dialog boxes for new hot folders