

screen set

A combination of standard screening parameters used to expose a set of separations on an output device.