

Reprint dialog box

Use this dialog box to reprint a document.

The Reprint dialog box can only be used to reprint documents that have a status of "on press" or "post press" or "completed".
For example, you may want to print another copy of a document that was printed last week and has the status of "completed". You can select the document and reprint it, without having to create a new document. When you reprint a document, a new document is created in Digital Direct that has the same settings as the original.
