

Activity 17: Create a regional versioning job

Who should complete this activity

This activity should be completed by anyone who will be responsible for creating regional versions of a job.

Why you should complete this activity

Regional versioning merges version content with base content to output multiple variations of a publication—for example, different languages. It provides a simple way to output plates and proofs for all versions from one process. In this activity you will output both the English and the French versions of carton from one job.
