independent page

A template page whose content is independent of adjacent pages. The content or bleed margins of independent pages can possibly overlap the content of a neighboring page.