printer

Physical device connected to the user's computer directly or on a network, such as a laser printer