

Undercolor Removal (UCR)

A method for reducing the CMY content in neutral gray shadow areas of a reproduction and replacing it with black. As a result, the reproduction appears normal but less process color ink is used.