

process inks

A set of standard ink colorants used in overprinted combinations to reproduce different colors on a printing device. A process ink set can be range from common CMYK set to extended "n-color" sets such as CMYKOG or CMYKRGB, which contain additional colorants to extend the printed color gamut.