

spot ink

A special-colored ink, not included in a process ink set, used to reproduce the color of certain graphic design elements. Spot inks are often used to reproduce colors outside a specific process ink set.