

About completed processes

If a process is completed successfully, it remains on the Completed tab of the Processes pane for a few minutes and then disappears.

If a process fails or stops, it remains on the Completed tab until one of the following occurs:

- You delete the process.
- A certain amount of time passes, after which the process is automatically deleted.
- You reselect the same elements and the same process template, and start the process again. If the process is completed successfully, it replaces the original failed or stopped process.
