

Saving factory templates

You can use a factory template as a regular process template.

1. Open Process Template Editor.
2. Under Factory Read-Only Templates, select and open a factory template.
3. Select File > Save As.
4. Double-click the group where you want to save the process template.
5. Type a name for the factory template.
6. Click Create Process Template.

The factory template is now available for use as a regular process template.