

Alternate workflow

If you do not have the input files ready, but you know what colors will be in the files, and to what inks the layer colors are to be mapped on output, you can perform the next task (creating the version plan) before you add and refine the input pages.