

Selecting an area to view

There are several ways to select an area of the total image to view.

- In the main window, use the Pan tool to drag the image.
 - In the main window, use the scroll bars to move the image right or left, or up or down.
 - In the Navigation palette, use the Pan tool to drag the selection rectangle until it shows the area that you want displayed in the main window.
 - In the Navigation palette, draw a marquee to outline the area you want displayed in the main window.
 - In the Navigation palette, click a different location to move the selection rectangle there.
