

Dynamic columns

When you start each process, a dynamic column may automatically appear in Job Manager. The column indicates the process template used to process the element and the processing status. You can control whether or not dynamic columns appear in a window or pane from the Workshop Preferences dialog box. By default, this preference is enabled when Prinergy Workshop is installed.