

Note: Matchprint Virtual is a licensed feature that enables you to view pages for color accuracy. Matchprint Virtual must be installed on a qualified Apple Macintosh computer with a qualified, calibrated monitor. For more information, contact a service representative.

After you have set a specific color target for the job, you can set a different color target for specific pages. For example, if the cover of a book requires a different color target than the other pages, you can set a color target just for the cover.

If a page has been enabled for color approval, but it is not required, you can cancel the color approval requirement.

You set the color target for the job in the job properties.
