

About light source

Your PressProof administrator assigns a default light source to use with each surface that is viewed in PressProof.

The light source is used when rendering the surfaces and should be identical to the light source that is defined in Matchprint Virtual, on your Mac workstation, for viewing color accurate surfaces in your dimmable light booth.