

Purpose of this guide

The purpose of this self-study guide is to provide realistic experience using Rules-Based Automation (RBA) in a Prinergy prepress environment.

This guide contains introductory information about RBA and provides hands-on practice using the feature in varying situations, from basic to advanced.

As part of the product support program for RBA, your site will receive on-site support (based on regional offerings) from a certified service representative. To get the most value from the on-site support session, you should complete this guide before the session. If you understand the fundamentals of RBA, you can better focus your questions on how RBA will work in your own workflow environment.
