

burn

In photography, to give extra exposure to a specific area of a print. In lithography, burning is exposing a blueline proof or printing plate with light.