

rich black

A black area to which layers of other inks, referred to as support screens or booster colors, have been added to make the color as dark as possible.