Log files

Log files record the activity of the software and help to identify serial numbers, check for missing or damaged hardware and software, and discover why calibration failed.

- Collecting log files
- Location of log files
- Calibration files
- Location of ICC profiles