

About the thumbnail panel

The thumbnail panel shows the entire surface in a small scale image, and enables you to navigate quickly to a different part of the surface. It is located in the lower left corner of the screen in Full Screen mode, but is normally hidden.

- 1. To show the thumbnail panel, move the mouse.
- 2. To hide the thumbnail panel, keep the mouse still.
CAUTION: Having the control toolbar display on or near a surface may affect the user's color perception.
- 3. You can set up PressProof to always display the control toolbar.

To	Do this
Always display the control toolbar	a. In About Window mode on the main toolbar select Kodak PressProof > Preferences. b.Select the check box beside Always display thumbnail panel.
Navigate using the thumbnail panel	a. Click the hand tool on the control toolbar. b. On the thumbnail panel, click the area that you want to view. The full screen image resets to show that area.